Scorcher To Go On; Omaha Tot Victim

AIRPORT'S 104 HERE IS STATE TOP

Nebraska's heat wave, which threatens to seriously cripple the corn crop, shows no signs of letting up.

In Omaha the scorching weather took a victim. The death of a 3-year-old child was blamed on a heat stroke.

Lincoln again was the hottest spot in the state Friday with an airport reading of 104 and a downtown reading of 101.

More Saturday

More 100-degree temperatures are forecast for the southeast Saturday.

The Omaha victim was Bruce E. Moir, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Moir, the Associated Press reported.

A physician said Bruce had undergone a minor surgical operation Thursday at a hospital and apparently was recovering when his temperature began to rise rapidly. He died Thursday night.

State an Oven

The physician said the cause of death would be listed as heat stroke pending an autopsy.

The whole state was an oven Friday. North Platte had a high of 101. Readings of 100 were recorded by Omaha, Grand Island, Imperial and Norfolk. The lowest high was 94 at Scottsbluff.

For Lincoln, Friday was the fifth consecutive day that the mercury has been near or over 100 degrees.

Lincoln received a scattered drizzle Thursday night when a very spotted shower squirmed hither and yon, leaving an official .03 inches downtown, up to .20 in the southeastern part of the city, and no moisture at all in other areas.

CAPT. FISCHER WILL MARRY DES MOINES WIDOW TODAY

MRS. PETERSON

SWEA CITY, Ia. (AP)—Capt. Harold Fischer Jr., recently released as a Chinese Communist prisoner of war, and Mrs. Mary Jane Peterson of Des Moines plan to be married Saturday.

The marriage of the 30-year-old Air Force double jet ace of the Korean War and the widow of an Air Force lieutenant will be at Maxwell Air Force Base, Montgomery, Ala., at 4 p.m. It is the second marriage for both.

Mrs. Peterson, also 30, has a 5-year-old daughter, Dana Lynn. Mrs. Peterson's husband was shot down over Korea.

Fischer was divorced from his first wife about the time he was shot down and taken prisoner in Korea. He has a 6-year-old son, Harold III.

Mrs. Peterson and Fischer started corresponding shortly after he was captured. When he returned to the United States earlier this year they met.

Fischer's best man will be Lt. Col. Edward Heller of Wynnewood, Pa., who was liberated with the Iowan on May 31.

Two other jet pilots also released at the same time will attend. They are 1st Lt. Ronald Parks of Omaha and 1st Lt. Lyle Cameron of Lincoln, Neb.

OMAHA (AP)—Twelve children raced away from a water fountain in the Peony Park swimming pool Friday to safety as the fountain spewed chlorine fumes.

An overload of liquid chlorine had been accidentally discharged into the pool as a result of a sudden stop in electric power to the park.

When the power stopped the chlorine pipes loaded up and when the power came back on the extra chlorine was sent into the pool.

HE'S HER SON

There are tears in the eyes of Mrs. Chester Green of Monticello, Ark., as she embraces her son, former Army Corp. William Cowart, 22, of Dalton, Ga., one of the three turncoats returned to their native land aboard the liner President Cleveland. Cowart refused repatriation after fighting ceased in Korea, but recently decided to come home and face Army charges of betraying his nation and fellow prisoners of war. (AP Wirephoto).

Ex-POWs Come Home To Prison ... 3 Turncoats Could Get Death

By G. K. HODENFIELD
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Three American former prisoners of war in Korea came home Friday—not to hero's welcomes, but to immediate arrest for betraying their country and their countrymen.

These were the men who had elected to stay with the Chinese Communists at the end of the Korean War, in 1953, then changed their minds after two years of life with the Reds.

Otho G. Bell, William A. Cowart and Lewis W. Griggs had a short 90-minute of joyful reunion with their relatives when the liner President Cleveland docked at the end of the long trip from Hong Kong.

Then, within minutes after they had cleared customs with their scanty possessions, the United States Army arrested them and took them to the back end of a truck to the stockade at Ft. Baker, across the Golden Gate from San Francisco.

Charges against the turncoats could lead to a possible death sentence for each. They knew it. Although obviously shaken, none uttered a word of protest when Capt. Walter R. Leahy of the 6th Army Provost Marshal's office, formally read off the charges.

Bell and Griggs had perhaps the most damning charge read against them—"soliciting a general officer of the United States Army to desert." All three were charged with betraying their fellow prisoners in efforts to improve their own situation in the bleak Korean prisoner-of-war camps.

Bell, 24, of Hillsboro, Miss., and Olympia, Wash., heard the bad news first. These were the charges against him:

"... depriving prisoners of food, aiding the enemy in preparing enemy sponsored propaganda material, and conspiring to cause and advising and soliciting a general officer of the United States Army to desert."

Detailed
The charge against Cowart, 22, of Dalton, Ga., was more detailed: "... informing of prisoner's attempts to escape, prisoners' thefts of food, prisoners' assaults upon you, prisoners' criticisms of the Communists, prisoners' disruption of the routine of the camp—all for the purpose of securing favorable treatment of yourself; writing enemy sponsored articles and letters and preparing posters inimical to the United States; participating in plays representing the United States."

RUNAWAY ROCKET HAS PIERCED OUTER SPACE

By EDWIN DIAMOND
International News Service
Science Writer

U.S. rocket experimenters already have pierced outer space with guided missiles and there is a wide belief that at least one such projectile may already be circling the earth as an "uncontrolled satellite."

The announcement by the White House Friday of government plans to launch an earth-satellite program took the lid off highly competent reports that one U.S.-launched rocket "worked too well" and shot far beyond its target height into outer space.

According to these reports—not officially confirmed but repeated seriously as fact by American experts — this test rocket generated such an enormous and unexpected thrust that it burst free of the earth's atmosphere.

Today, this rocket reportedly is 800 miles out in space with its fuel long since expended but still whirling at the rate of about 16,000 miles per hour. At that speed, it would circle the earth 13 times a day or once every hour and 51 minutes.

It is also possible, however, that this "runaway" rocket might have slipped back into the earth's atmosphere, in which case the high friction would have disintegrated it quickly.

GOP Senators Say He Will Quit

Action By Air Secretary 'Imminent' Claim Highly-Placed Republicans

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two highly placed Republican senators said Friday the resignation of Harold E. Talbott as secretary of the Air Force was "imminent," but Talbott himself said that "wasn't true."

The two senators, both members of the GOP Policy Committee in the Senate, declined use of their names in connection with the report.

Talbott, reached by phone at his home, said the report "wasn't true at all. It's just a rumor. I hadn't heard it before."

However, a later remark by Talbott to a reporter indicated there was at least a possibility that he would resign.

"I will do nothing at any time to embarrass President Eisenhower, and I will do whatever the President wishes me to do," he said.

Asked for comment at the White House, presidential press Secretary James C. Hagerty said: "There is nothing before us."

One senator reported that several Republican members of the Senate have told the White House they thought the acknowledged "mistake" Talbott made in promoting a profitable outside business interest from his Pentagon office "made it advisable that he should go."

Expected Shortly

This informant said Talbott has now decided to relinquish his Pentagon post. "I am told that the announcement of his resignation is imminent," he added.

Within an hour, the second senator made a similar report and said, "I believe my source is unimpeachable."

Chairman Bridges (R-NH) confirmed that the Policy Committee had discussed the question of whether Talbott, a personal friend of President Eisenhower's, should resign, but he said the committee had reached no conclusion.

Bridges said opinion among members of the committee differed sharply, but that it appeared to be the majority view that all of the facts should be learned before any action was taken.

Ike To Study Record

This has been Eisenhower's view. He told his news conference Wednesday he intended to read the record of the Senate's inquiry into Talbott's business connections and then decide personally whether the 67-year-old Air Force chief had violated "a proper standard of ethics," The President is week-ending at his farm near Gettysburg, Pa.

An inquiry by the Senate Investigations subcommittee has disclosed that Talbott, in the 2½ years he has served as civilian head of the Air Force, has received $132,032 in profits from a partnership in Paul B. Mulligan & Co., a New York management engineering firm. Some of the firm's customers have defense contracts with the government.

to get his Russian cigarettes which he had hoped to distribute at the table.

At times the discussion about sports almost reached the friendly argument stage, then someone of the group would make a humorous remark and the subject would be changed to another sport.

He was particularly emphatic that Russian women were the best in speed skating, but admitted that other countries had better figure skaters.

State Gives Warm Welcome To Russ

By ELLIS RALL

OMAHA — The Russian farm delegation received a warm welcome from Nebraska Friday evening at a banquet and reception given in its honor at the Fontenelle Hotel by the Chamber of Commerce Agricultural committee.

V. V. Matskevich, the delegation head, made a plea for mutual understanding of the United States and the Soviet Union. He declared that "our labor-loving people will work well, sing well, create well and labor for the prosperity of the peoples of the world." He addressed the group with the aid of an interpreter.

The group was cordial and friendly. They exchanged jokes almost as fast as their hosts.

Each member of the delegation was presented a silver dollar so they would not be "broke" during their tour.

State Agriculture Director Ed Hoyt greeted the group in behalf of Governor Victor Anderson.

Genuine Friendliness

This reporter, seated with two members of the Soviet party, was impressed by the genuine attempt they made to be friendly.

In fact, they even stood while the "Star Spangled Banner" was sung.

Boris Savelev, deputy chairman of the Russian Economic Commission, through his interpreter kept a lively, light and humorous dinner banter all through the banquet. Yuri Golubash, the other delegate seated at the same table, was quiet and reserved. Occasionally he added a remark or two to the conversation.

Sprinkled with a generous amount of humor, the light-hearted exchanges jumped from the weather to athletics, sports and occasionally to agricultural topics.

In the sports field Savelev was well informed on records and personalities. He said the Soviet excelled in many sports, but he did admit that the United States was far ahead of other countries in the field of horse racing.

Savelev, a pleasant individual, commented that even in Russia they have wrestlers on TV.

He accepted an invitation to attend a baseball game following the banquet then laughingly commented that he had lost his key to his suitcase and couldn't get in for a fresh change of clothes or

He Has Two Wives, But He's No Bigamist--Court

NEW YORK (AP)—Monroe J. Denham's is a crazy, mixed-up life. He has two wives and a prison record. But because he's an ex-convict, he's not a bigamist.

A tall, dark and handsome 37-year-old chef, Denham married his first wife, Florence, in 1942. Later, they separated and, without benefit of divorce, he went through a marriage ceremony in Elkton, Md., in 1948 with Evelyn Spivak.

To marry Evelyn, Denham adopted the name of a chance acquaintance, George J. Herrper. Under the later name he was sent to Sing Sing prison in 1950 to serve two to four years for attempted larceny.

Meanwhile, federal authorities were looking for the real Herrper to deport him as an illegal immigrant. When Denham was paroled from prison in 1953, he was taken to Ellis Island. It took him six months to convince authorities he wasn't Herrper. They turned him loose in 1954.

Denham went back to his first wife. But eight days ago he was arrested as a bigamist.

New York law sets a five-year statute of limitations on bigamy—provided the bigamist has spent the entire five years in the state.

"Denham was a guest of the state and later of the federal government—all of the time in New York State," said his attorney, Benjamin Schmier, in arguing that the state could not prosecute at this late date.

With the state reluctantly agreeing, Felony Court Magistrate Reuben Levy dismissed the charge.

Said Schmier afterwards:

"Denham is still technically married to two women, but the law is the law and this charge should be dismissed on the law. Civilly, he is still up to his neck. This is one case where, in a way, the defendant was fortunate to have been in prison."

Google Urges Polio Shots Now

An appeal to parents in Lancaster County to bring their children to the City-County Health Department for polio booster shots was made Friday by Dr. James T. Google, department director.

Dr. Google said he felt it his responsibility as health director and as a doctor to make the appeal.

The request for children to take the shots opposes a recommendation by the Polio Advisory Committee that the shots not be given until after the polio season. Although the committee's vote was reported unanimous, a dissent was voiced by one of the doctor members.

Group Recommends Wait
The committee adopted a recommendation by the American Academy of Pediatrics that the shots not be given with the coming of the polio season during the summer. This recommendation conflicted with the advice of the American Medical Society which said the shots could be given now without harming the children.

Dr. Paul Bancroft, a pediatrician and member of the Board of Education, which he represented at the committee meeting Wednesday, advised against the booster shots being given now.

Dr. E. A. Rogers, state health director, said there was no harm in giving the shots now and that children should be urged to take them.

The committee's action left the way to the City-County Health Department to give the booster vaccinations at the request of parents who wanted their children to have them.

The immunity level of children who receive the second shots is markedly higher than just with the one inoculation, Dr. Google said. For this reason, he felt, the children should further protect themselves from any changes of getting polio.

The health department has advised parents wishing shots for their children to come into the department building at 10th and R at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. The department closes at noon Saturday.

World-Girdling Satellites Will Be Launched By U.S. In '58

Build Small Globes

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower disclosed Friday that the United States plans to launch history's first man-made, earth-circling satellites by the end of 1958.

Still not perfected, the satellites are envisaged by government scientists as small globes, about the size of basketballs. They would be launched by rockets and circle the earth once every 90 minutes at a speed of 18,000 miles per hour and a height of 200 or 300 miles.

They are expected to remain aloft for days and perhaps weeks, then spiral back down and disintegrate as they hit the heavier atmosphere.

Entirely Scientific
In announcing that President Eisenhower has approved the satellite project, presidential press Secretary James C. Hagerty emphasized that it is for "entirely scientific purposes."

Scientists of all nations, including Russia, he said, will be able to observe the space objects and will receive all the scientific facts developed from the program.

Some members of Congress immediately objected to cutting Russia in on grounds it might provide the Soviets with valuable information for the race to develop intercontinental guided missiles.

Some applauded the project. Others called it fantastic and said it challenges the imagination.

The satellites won't be in the nature of much-discussed space platforms that might be used for both scientific and military purposes. But they are expected to provide information of practical value to mankind—information, for example, that might lead to improved weather forecasting and improved radio transmission.

Scientists taking part in the program said that little is known about the regions beyond the earth's close down, denser atmospheric layers, which act as a partial shield against light, ultraviolet rays and cosmic rays from outer space, as well as meteors. If they can get a better understanding of solar radiation, by use of the satellites, they may be able to relate it to weather and climate. Radiations from the sun disturb radio communications, and greater knowledge of them may lead to corrective measures.

The sponsors of the project, the National Science Foundation and the National Academy of Sciences, said in a joint statement that "observations of the satellites will indicate the conditions that would have to be met and the difficulties that would have to be overcome if the day comes when man goes beyond the earth's atmosphere in his travels."

The satellite program is planned as part of this country's participation in the International Geophysical Year, from July, 1957, to December, 1958. Some 40 other nations, Russia among them, also will take part then in worldwide studies of the earth's sciences.

What the satellites will look like, what they will be made of, whether they can carry instruments, where they will be launched—those are some of the details government scientists said must be worked out in the months ahead.

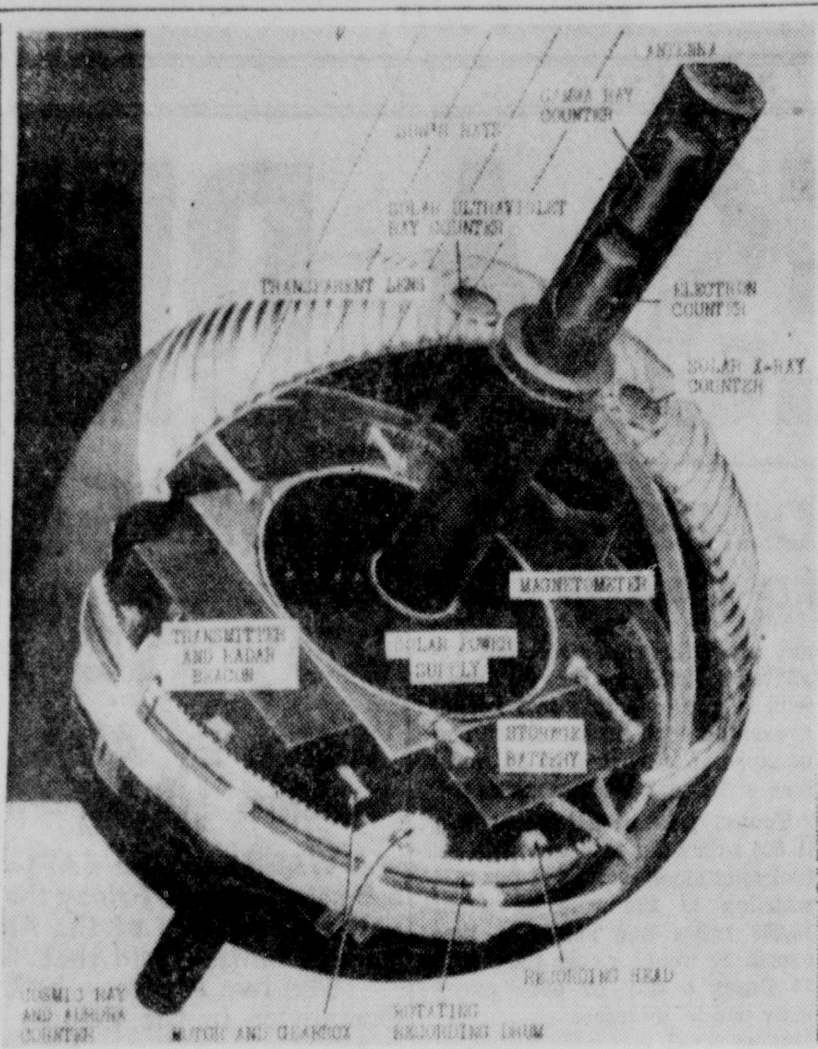

Even the cost of the program is uncertain. Dr. Alan T. Waterman, director of the National Science Foundation, told reporters the "preliminary, rough estimate is something on the order of 10 million dollars." He indicated the project would be financed with funds already authorized for U.S. participation in the International Geophysical Year.

No Nuclear Power
Because of low resistance in the rarified upper atmosphere, nothing as great as nuclear power is expected to be needed to supply the side thrust.

Dr. Athelstan F. Spilhaus, a member of the U.S. Committee for the Geophysical Year, said that if a satellite is basketball size, "you could perhaps barely see it at twilight with the naked eye—certainly you could see it with binoculars."

Like the moon, it would reflect light from the sun.
Spilhaus said a satellite may or may not carry instruments, but even if it can't a lot of valuable information can be obtained on such matters as the density of the upper atmosphere.

July Building Again Boosts Record Higher

Lincoln building roared along during July to the tune of $2,192,928 in total costs, pushing the year to date to an even higher record mark.

With July, 1955 is now assured of being the biggest building year in the history of the city. Total construction costs for this year to date now stand at a whopping $13,839,835.

The seven months total is $5,841,504 ahead of last year at this same time and only $1,057,094 behind the record high of $14,896,929 reached by the end of 1954. This year's total to date has already exceeded the total reached in any other preceding entire year with the exception of 1954.

About Double Last Year
While July this year went over the $2 million mark, the same month in 1954 hit only $1,061,996. July, 1955 was only about average for a summer month in new home construction with permits issued for 190 dwelling units at an estimated cost of $1,497,809.

This brings total home permits issued thus far through 1955 to 1,233 and total estimated costs to $9,010,587.

Helping this July along were permits issued for a $255,975 addition to the St. Teresa's Catholic school at 616 So. 30th, the $130,000 addition to First Methodist Church at 2723 So. 50th, and the Maynard V. Mills insurance office building at 4900 O for $55,100.

The monthly construction record for 1955 to date:

Month	Total Costs	New Homes	New Home Costs
Jan.	$1,191,445	124	$ 830,735
Feb.	$ 681,949	97	$ 618,645
Mar.	$1,746,536	187	$1,400,402
Apr.	$1,807,954	205	$1,494,230
May	$4,201,451	268	$1,925,550
June	$2,017,172	260	$1,243,216

O'Neill Case Goes To Liquor Board

The State Liquor Control Commission Friday took under consideration after a two-day hearing a citation against Mrs. Jesse Marie Gatz of O'Neill, doing business as Gatz Brothers, charging that the wholesale firm gave away beer to retailers.

Chief witness against the wholesale firm was Danny Helmer, a discharged employee, who it was said was disgruntled because his demand for $250 as bonus money was refused.

Evidence was presented that three half-barrels of beer were given to retailers to replace spoiled beer and that no charges were made. The defense contended that the driver, Helmer, committed the act without the knowledge of the operating officials.

Testimony showed that bookkeeping methods were lax and that reports to the commission showed shortages as beer used by employees.

The testimony showed that the books of the wholesaler, who has been in business for 22 years, were not audited by the commission auditors until after the complaints were made.

Water Use Again New Record Level

Water consumption Thursday continued at record high levels as a total of 49,372,000 gallons were pumped.

Thursday's usage was just slightly below the record high of 49,742,500 gallons consumed Wednesday.

The city's electric demand hit a new high Thursday for the third day in a row. Thursday's high was 15,592 kilowatts, just over the previous record high of 15,536 kilowatts delivered the previous day.

The rated capacity of the city's water plant is 45 million gallons per day. When demand exceeds that mark, it forces the city to pump its local wells beyond their rated daily capacity of 10 million gallons.

A slight drop in reservoir levels was also reported Thursday and Friday mornings.

Addington Gets 2-Year Sentence

A burglary attempt, thwarted by a drive-in owner who hid in the cafe after closing, resulted in a guilty plea and two-year sentence to the State Penitentiary Friday. Pleading guilty was Donald Lee Addington, 29, of 920 So. 18th. He was charged with breaking and entering the Dutch Milk Drive-In Cafe on June 25th.

Richard C. Taylor, cafe owner, had been missing money from his cash register over a long period of time, according to a police report. Addington was sentenced in District Court.

In other action, William H. Hoffman, 36, of 1543 O, was sentenced to 18 months in the Penitentiary following a guilty plea for issuing a $5 no-account check on July 22.

600 Guardsmen Off For Training

Some 600 Nebraska Air Guardsmen boarded a train for a two-week training period at Casper, Wyo., early Saturday morning.

The Burlington station was crowded with sweethearts, wives and parents who came to kiss their boys "goodbye."

The guardsmen compose the 132nd Fighter Interceptor Wing that is headed by Col. John M. Campbell, Chief of Staff for Air; Lt. Col. Fred H. Bailey, commander of the 173rd Fighter - Interceptor Squadron and Lt. Col. Donald E. Coy, commander of the 132nd Air Base Group.

Gov. Victor Anderson will inspect the Air Guardsmen at Casper on Aug. 6, Governor's Day. The airman will return to Lincoln Aug. 13.

-393-3 Vote- Stripped Housing Bill OKd House Cuts Ike 35,000-Unit Request

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Friday passed, 396-3, a stripped-down housing bill minus the new public housing President Eisenhower requested.

The measure then headed for conference with a Senate measure which has liberal public housing provisions. Expectation was that a compromise would emerge with some public housing in it—perhaps close to the 35,000 units a year for two years that Eisenhower sought.

Public housing foes scored a victory in the key vote of the day when, by a count of 217-188, the House substituted a skeleton measure by Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich) for an omnibus bill approved by the House Banking Committee.

The committee bill provided for the same number of public housing units Eisenhower requested, but also had a number of provisions the administration didn't seek. The Wolcott bill leaves out public housing altogether. There was no clear word from the White House in support of either bill.

'Consistent'
Democrats argued the committee bill most closely represented the President's public housing program—which, House Democratic leader McCormack (Mass) added, "is consistent with Democratic policy."

House GOP leader Martin (Mass) countered that the administration feels that in "getting the Wolcott bill to Congress it will get a bill more nearly to its liking than it has today."

In the key vote, 66 anti-public-housing Democrats joined with a strong lineup of 151 Republicans. Voting against Wolcott were 152 Democrats and 36 Republicans.

The legislation is a major "must" for congressional passage before adjournment because various federal housing programs would otherwise expire. Public housing foes on the House rules committee had succeeded in bottling up the Banking committee bill for nearly a month.

The Wolcott bill would give the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) an additional $4 billion authority to insure home mortgages, the amount Wolcott said would allow that giant program to continue until July 1, 1956.

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower arrived by car Friday to spend the week end with Mrs. Eisenhower at their Gettysburg farm.

The President smiled and waved to a small group of onlookers as his car reached the farm gates after a two-hour drive from Washington.

Mrs. Eisenhower came here earlier.

No plans for the week end were announced but the President is expected to play golf Saturday if the weather is good.

ed States as an illegal aggressor; participating in the kangaroo trial of a fellow prisoner and advocating that the death penalty be imposed; preparing enemy sponsored indoctrination articles; circulating peace petitions, serving voluntarily on a peace committee and soliciting a prisoner to refuse repatriation."

Griggs, 22, of Jacksonville, Tex., heard these charges read:

"... informing your captors of the theft of tobacco by a prisoner for the purpose of securing favorable treatment for yourself; wrongfully holding intercourse with the enemy, attending enemy-sponsored activities, aiding in preparing enemy sponsored propaganda expressing favorable views of your captors, writing enemy sponsored articles critical of the United States and making voice recordings accusing the United States of using bacteriological warfare in Korea, supporting enemy controlled indoctrination and propaganda groups, signing and authorizing the dispatch of a letter inviting a general officer of the United States Army to desert, and conspiring with others to advise and solicit a general officer of the United States Army to desert."

Blinked
The men stood quietly as the charges were read to them just inside the gloomy cavern of the Mission Rock pier shed.

Bell blinked when he heard himself accused of depriving fellow prisoners of food. Otherwise no one showed any emotion.

When Capt. Leahy finished reading, military policemen motioned them into the back end of a canvas-topped military truck. Silently they clambered aboard.

It rumbled off, and their brief stay in the public spotlight was at an end for Cowart, Griggs and Bell.

It was a hectic day, starting before noon when reporters and photographers scrambled aboard the President Cleveland just inside the Golden Gate.

It reached an emotional climax a few hours later when the ship docked. The turncoats stood on the sundeck and greeted the families they hadn't seen for five or six years. Relatives of all three were there.

Cowart, acknowledged spokesman of the group, was the first to break. His face quivered and his mouth worked in agitation. Then, as his mother mounted the last few steps to his side, Cowart broke into bitter tears and sobbed on her shoulder.

Bell contained himself longer, even as he gathered into his arms, Paula, the 4-year-old daughter, he had never seen. Then, as he threw his arms around his father, he whispered, "it's O.K. daddy," and wept aloud.

All the commotion, of bulbs, all the emotion of the meeting did not appear to ruffle Griggs a bit. He stood, smiling and poised as his mother approached. He remained that way until the turncoats and their families disappeared into a lounge of the liner for a private reunion before the Army stepped in.

Grim Sen. George Directs Blunt Words At McCarthy

By ARTHUR EDSON
WASHINGTON (AP)—All at once the normally polite, honeyed tone of the Senate vanished.

There stood white-haired Sen. Walter George (D-Ga.), a senator for 32 of his 77 years. He looked grim, and he spoke bluntly, with none of the usual senatorial flourishes.

And there stood Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis.), 45, who in eight years in the Senate has made more headlines than most legislators do in a lifetime. He, too, looked grim.

Before they had finished, the Senate heard some of the bitterest talk of this rather placid session of Congress, including a curt comment by George that "I shall not perjure myself" by referring to McCarthy as a good senator.

Even now, in the cold print of the Congressional Record, some of the feeling comes through.

Resolution Offered
It began when McCarthy introduced a resolution calling for the Senate to resolve that Nationalist China should be included in the talks with Communist China that begin in Geneva Monday.

The resolution naturally would go to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, of which George is chairman.

McCarthy said he was in a hurry for action on his proposal.

George: "If the committee reaches the resolution in regular order, I shall be glad to take it up. Otherwise, I will not."

McCarthy: "The senator indicates a certain amount of hostility toward the resolution. I know the senator from Georgia has suggested that we hold these meetings without our Allies being present."

Here came a rather heated discussion over whether George ever had suggested such a thing. George insisted he hadn't, and he wound up with:

"I care not what the senator from Wisconsin may think of the senator from Georgia."

McCarthy: "I think he is a good senator. I have always said that."

George: "Very well. I wish I could reciprocate the compliment, Mr. President, but I shall not perjure myself with such a statement as that."

McCarthy: "I think we are clear on this. The senator chooses to engage in personal insults. I do not. I wish to make it clear that when I offered the opinion that the senator from Georgia was a good senator, I was referring to morals, character, and such things. I was not referring to his recent activities, especially during the past year, as chairman of the Committee on Foreign Relations. Of these, I do not approve."

George: "I thank the senator. I thank him very much. On the question of morality, I suppose I can agree that the senator from Wisconsin is a good moral man."

"I am not referring to whether he is serving his country well. That is a question he must determine for himself, and which all of us must determine for ourselves. I do not undertake to determine it for any other member of this body. I never had done that, and I never shall."

"I try to determine it for myself; that is all."

Congress Will OK Base Hospital In '56, Curtis Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Curtis (R-Neb) said Friday he is confident Congress will appropriate money next year for construction of a hospital at the Lincoln, Neb., Air Force Base.

The Senate supplemental appropriations bill passed last Tuesday included $2,677,000 for this hospital after the Senate accepted a floor amendment by Curtis for this purpose.

The item was reportedly eliminated in the conference on the appropriations bill between Senate and House members.

Alcoa Okays 15 Cent Hourly Wage Hike To 25,000 Workers

Rival Unions Initial Pacts

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A possible strike at midnight Sunday of workers of the giant Aluminum Co. of America was averted Friday night when rival AFL and CIO unions agreed on new wage pacts providing an average of 15 cents hourly pay boost.

The CIO United Steel Workers was first to come to terms after its president, David J. McDonald, participated in a day-long negotiating session. The USW represents 15,000 Alcoa employees.

Less than an hour after the USW had agreed, a similar pact was signed by negotiators for the AFL Aluminum Workers representing another 10,000 workers.

The AFL agreement is subject to ratification by seven local unions.

Price Hikes

The USW had empowered its bargaining committee to sign the contract with no further action needed by plant locals. An Alcoa spokesman said the company would announce price hikes within a few days.

The wage talks came under contract reopening clauses. Current average hourly rates of USW workers now are $1.62 an hour at Alcoa's plant at nearby New Kensington, Pa. The rates vary widely at other plants.

AFL Aluminum Workers now get from $1.60 an hour on the East Coast to $1.85 an hour on the West Coast.

McDonald entered the negotiations after the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service stepped into the bogged down talks Friday. The pay boost was the same he obtained recently for 600,000 basic steel workers.

The AFL and CIO unions, in an unprecedented move, joined in working out bargaining strategy.

Consent Of Neighbors Needed To Vacate Road

The attorney general's office Friday advised Madison County how to proceed in vacating an unused road.

County Attorney James F. Brogan told the attorney general that the county desires to vacate a road which is not on a section line, has not been used for more than 10 years and lies entirely within the real estate of one individual. Another road within a half mile adequately serves the area, Brogan reported.

In response to Brogan's questions, the attorney general said it is not necessary to obtain the consent of the majority of voters living within two miles of the road to be vacated. But each owner of land lying in or abutting on the highway involved should be notified.

Notice should be served on the owners and published in a newspaper, the opinion said.

U.S. Farmers In Soviet Get Gifts Of Wine

YALTA, Crimea, U.S.S.R. (AP) — American farmers touring the Soviet Union visited this Big Three conference city Friday and left with gift bottles of aged wine.

Taken on a sightseeing tour, the 12-man group saw the former Czarist palace with Stalin and Roosevelt studies which now have been converted into dining rooms. Premier Stalin, President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill met here in 1945.

The Americans visited famed wineries of this Black Sea port, sampled several varieties and then took gift bottles back with them to the steamer Pobeda. The Pobeda is carrying them from Odessa on a 400-mile trip eastward to Novorossiysk, a major grain center.

Accounts of the Russian farmers' tour of Iowa continued to get a play in the Soviet press.

Tass reported the Russians had an interesting time seeing the Sioux City stockyards as well as visiting Des Moines and were grateful to Gov. Leo A. Hoegh for putting a plane at their disposal.

The Russians were described as still amazed at the big American crowds turning out to greet them.

The Soviet news agency also reported a group of University of Iowa students asked the leader of the Soviet delegation to help arrange a student exchange in the interests of improving Russian-American relations. There was no immediate reaction here to the students' idea.

He Should Resign

On the day before President Eisenhower's discussion of the case of Air Force Secretary Talbott, the staunchly pro-Eisenhower Los Angeles Times editorially said that Mr. Talbott should resign without delay or discussion. He should. It may or may not be the ultimate conclusion of the President after examining word for word the record in the Talbott matter, but the plain truth is that Mr. Talbott failed to reveal the fine sense of delicacy and discrimination which a public official should possess. One does not need to violate some law in order to terminate his usefulness in public office.

There is this simple burden of responsibility resting upon every public official. Not only must they be right in every ethical sense, but they must have the appearance of right to every critic or crackpot who wants to criticize. They must be completely above suspicion.

The assumption is that the President will not waste any time in examining the record. It will strengthen him and improve his position to act speedily—just as speedily as possible. We can believe Mr. Talbott when he speaks of his integrity, his desire to do the right thing, but one simply cannot mix private business with official duty no matter how much his conscience may free him when the issue is one of pressuring or influencing contracts for the concern with which he was identified. We commend his action in losing no time in severing his connections while continuing in office.

Only Just Begun

Lincoln like its neighbors throughout the Middle West, and over most of the country for that matter, is sweltering in the grip of a heat wave. And unlike many other cities it is not presently thinking about water rationing. Rather it is congratulating itself upon foresight which added pipeline capacity since last summer, when less available water did provoke limited rationing during a period of heat less protracted than the present one.

There is something unrealistic in this complacency. Let us examine some figures.

A year ago the city had an approximate daily supply of 30 million gallons—pipeline capacity plus city wells. This year new pipeline capacity boosted the over-all supply to 45 million gallons daily.

Wednesday the city used 49,742,500 gallons. Thursday it used 49,372,000 gallons. On those two days—and there have been others like them and will be others to come—the city is demanding some 4,500,000 gallons more than its rated capacity. Some of this is being supplied by reservoir depletion, most from hand pumping of the city wells—a practice of doubtful prudence.

Water security for Lincoln? Temporarily, perhaps. In the long range, no.

There has been some underestimating. As in so many instances, future use seems to have been calculated on past use without computing the factor of expanded use that comes when more of something becomes available.

Lincoln should face it. Perhaps it thought it provided sufficient water. But it didn't. It has not finished the job. Whatever the real limit of demand may be, it is certain that it has not been achieved. It is playing with unreality to defer further expansion.

Umbrella Man

Vice President Nixon must be a politically superstitious man. When President Eisenhower returned from Geneva the vice president, who was arranging the public greeting at a Washington airport, banned umbrellas.

Nixon had in mind Prime Minister Chamberlain who returned to England after the Munich conference with Hitler, brandishing an umbrella and proclaiming peace in our time. The umbrella might have been in keeping with the weather, but the remark was unrealistic for it wasn't long until Hitler's guns were leveling Poland.

And as it turned out on President Eisenhower's return it rained and no one had umbrellas. It almost hinted that Nixon was at war with umbrellas rather than at grips with the political movements of the world. He should reflect that statesmen occupying themselves with umbrellas have not lately gone down in history with great luster.

Editorial Of The Day

Some Anniversary

(From The Denver Post)

There will be no celebration in Korea this week of the second Korean war armistice anniversary. Nor should there be. Both the United Nations military armistice commission and the Republic of South Korea have accused the Communists of violating that armistice, supported by indisputable evidence. And the villains include not only the North Korean Reds but the Polish and Czech members of the neutral nations supervisory commission, which appears to be a phony.

The U.N. command only a few weeks ago revealed documented armistice violations, including imports of Russian-built jets, the build-up of aircraft, the importations of war material and enlargement of ground forces, Maj. Gen. Harlan C. Parks, chief of the U.N. commission, accused the Communists of "resorting to every possible subterfuge" to violate the armistice on the sly.

The South Korean government charges that the Polish and Czech representatives on the commission have actually committed espionage and sabotage while purporting to inspect ports and military installations in the Republic.

The October meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers will include a number of important topics, the most important of which will be German reunification and disarmament. Sooner or later any genuine effort to prove some tangible progress in relations between East and West, however, must face and dispose of violations of the Korean armistice. While that kind of bad dealing and broken faith persists in any part of the world, few will honor the word or respect the intentions of the Soviet Union in pursuing the cause of peace in Europe.

Talbott Big Money Raiser For Party

WASHINGTON — The real story of Harold Talbott goes deeper than his own difficulties with a Senate committee over using his official position to get business for his company. It goes deep down to the roots of the American political system whereby a few wealthy men are called upon to raise money for the mounting cost of electing a president.

Talbott was one of Ike's big money raisers. He was also one of Tom Dewey's. He raised so much money for Dewey that he was all set to become U.S. ambassador to the court of St. James. The Talbott daughters had even picked their gowns to appear in court — when the news came on that gray November dawn in 1948 that Dewey wasn't president after all.

Talbott happens to be a likeable, dynamic, rough-and-tumble spark-plug who has made a crusade of building up the Air Force and especially the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs.

But he also happens to belong to a little group who helped found the General Motors empire and who made a fortune out of airplanes that never flew in World War I.

He was not a man Ike should ever have appointed to a defense cabinet position. But because the Roosevelt administration had fired him from the War Production Board aircraft division in World War II, Talbott wanted to stage a comeback. So, with the party owing him a big debt as GOP money-raiser, Talbott was made secretary of the Air Force.

There was some argument among Eisenhower advisers as to the advisability of his appointment, as I reported in a column Dec. 15, 1952.

It happens that I followed the Talbott appointment rather closely and called the attention of certain highly placed individuals to the report on him prepared by Charles Evans Hughes at the request of President Woodrow Wilson. Among those I talked with were Sen. Russell of Georgia, ranking minority member of the Armed Services Committee, and Sen. Kefauver of Tennessee, also a member of that committee. Both studied the Hughes report and asked Talbott penetrating questions that should have put the Eisenhower administration further on notice.

Hughes at that time had been governor of New York and a Supreme Court justice, having resigned to run against Wilson in 1916. Because of the seriousness of the airplane scandals, Wilson appointed his own opponent, the top Republican of that period, to investigate them. Hughes spent weeks digging into the reasons why airplanes were not produced in World War I, and, among other things, made some scathing references to Talbott, then president of a war profiteering company formed to make Liberty motors.

With Talbott in the company were his father, Charles Kettering, later vice president of General Motors; and Edward A. Deeds, head of Delco battery which became a General Motors subsidiary.

Hughes in his report charged them with "conduct of a reprehensible character," but said they could not be prosecuted under existing law. But he went on to recommend a court-martial for E. A. Deeds, their former partner.

Deeds had been a colonel in the Army in charge of aircraft procurement, from which inside position he proceeded, according to Hughes, to "convey information to Mr. Talbott in an improper manner with respect to the transaction of business between the company and the division of the Signal Corps of which Col. Deeds was the head."

TALBOTT'S PATTERN

In other words, Talbott helped set a pattern even that early in life for inside profiting on war contracts.

Sen. Russell bluntly asked Talbott about this during the Senate confirmation hearing on his appointment to be secretary of the Air Force.

"This company," said Russell, quoting the Hughes report, "was launched about the same time of our entry into the war manifestly with the expectation of obtaining government contracts."

"It was charged that Colonel Deeds, who had been associated with your father or Mr. Kettering, went into the War Department to aid the company in obtaining contracts."

"That is not correct," Senator, replied Talbott. Beyond that flat denial, however, he had no explanation of the harsh findings of the Republican who later became chief justice of the United States.

When the vote came on Talbott's nomination, Republican senators were so anxious to confirm Ike's new cabinet regardless of the record that only one vote in the committee was cast against him — Kefauver of Tennessee.

Later, Kefauver asked Chairman Saltonstall of Massachusetts to call Talbott back for further committee questioning regarding the Hughes report, at which time Kefauver inserted in the record some amazing telegrams sent by Colonel Deeds to Talbott regarding airplane contracts.

"In arranging for contract do not overlook a local contractor and lumber man in Osborne," Col. Deeds telegraphed his former partner, now the secretary of the Air Force, on May 24, 1917. "Erza Kuhn knows his name. He has been friendly to us and I promised him something to do on this job."

In other words, Col. Deeds, from the vantage point of the Army, was helping to run his old business with Talbott, just as Talbott recently helped run his business with Paul Mulligan.

Deeds even gave Talbott strictly confidential information on how they could acquire their war plant from the government after the war. (Copyright, 1955 By Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

In Step With The Sower

The Sower returned from vacation to find the little bird all atwitter over the reaction of state employees to an administrative ruling that all employees must work a 44-hour week and that salary increases will be limited to $10 until a legislative study of salaries is completed.

They are not happy, the little bird exclaimed. Particularly when the temperature soars around the 100-degree mark, you can hear plenty of grating by those who do not have the advantage of air-conditioned offices.

The little bird's report was borne out when an employee showed the Sower a clipping from the Des Moines Register telling about how on the hottest day of the year some Iowa state employees were wearing sweaters and plugging in electric heaters to keep warm.

The clipping said that the office building's 200-ton air-conditioners caused the thermometer in one office to read 66 degrees.

It was explained by the building superintendent that office partitions not contemplated in the original design prevented even distribution of the cool air. Rooms where the thermostats were installed showed temperatures of 74 to 78.

In our office we would be willing to buy air-conditioners ourselves so that we could perform a fair day's work," one employee asserted. "But the wiring is insufficient to carry the additional electric load."

"It just does not seem fair that we should have to work in such heat and put it on a full 44-hour week while others are comfortable with air-conditioning."

The last session of the Legislature appropriated money to start installing heavier wiring in a necessary by the greatly expanded use of modern electrically operated machines and some air-conditioning.

Stories Of Famous Hymns

I Will Sing Of My Redeemer

I will sing of my Redeemer
And his wondrous love to me;
On the cruel cross He suffered,
From the curse to set me free.

I will tell the wondrous story,
How my lost estate to save,
In His boundless love and mercy,
He the ransom freely gave.

I will praise my dear Redeemer,
His triumphant power I'll tell,
How the victory He giveth
Over sin, and death, and hell.

I will sing of my Redeemer,
And His heavenly love to me;
He from death to life hath brought me,
Son of God, with Him to be.

By HORACE B. POWELL

The hymn, "I Will Sing Of My Redeemer," might well have been the theme song of Philip Bliss if it had been written at the beginning instead of near the end of his gospel-singing career.

For all his life Mr. Bliss loved to sing of his Redeemer, and his songs through the years helped thousands of non-Christians to find their way to the Saviour. Sometimes the songs were sung in the Dwight L. Moody revivals, sometimes in the meetings of that other great evangelist, Major D. W. Whittle. And when he wasn't singing, Mr. Bliss usually was busy writing new gospel hymns or creating music for someone else's verses.

The verses of "I Will Sing Of My Redeemer" were written shortly before his death (he and Mrs. Bliss were killed in an Ohio train crash in 1876) and were set to music by his friend and fellow singer, James McGranahan. Mr. McGranahan later took up the torch of gospel song which Bliss had dropped, and wrote many new and popular evangelistic songs of his own.

The Fluorine Question

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I read this recently in a physical culture magazine: "Fluorine is one of the world's most active elements and is a cumulative poison equal to arsenic. Well persons may tolerate the dosage required to harden tooth enamel, but how it affects the very young, the weak, diabetics, the nephritics and the allergics is a matter of grave concern. The water commissioners of Batavia, New York, are making an objective investigation and will not take any action in this matter, even if satisfied, without overwhelming approval by the people of Batavia whom they serve."

The last we heard, our City Council had considered putting fluorine in our drinking water but dismissed the idea without taking any action on it.

The Detroit Mirror had this to say: "Never in the history of water supply has a substance so toxic in nature, with such a high degree of physiological potency and associated with so much adverse evidence affecting public health, been considered seriously for introduction into the public water supply."

Are we swine, that our water commissioners can give us any kind of slop that they wish us to drink? If so, who will they get to grunt for them?

So let's give the water commissioners of Batavia, New York, a hearty cheer for doing what they can to keep this element out of their people's drinking water. It's time we common laymen all over these United States woke up and began to fight for our rights.

Neither Could Sleep

Broken Bow, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I wish to call attention to an article that is going the rounds, something that could happen, and entitled "Neither Politician Could Sleep A Wink."

In a certain large hotel in Washington, a Republican and a Democratic politician each had a room across the hall from the other. Each retired late, weary from gabbling all day, but before going to sleep, each turned on his radio to hear the same identical final news broadcast. It told how a meeting had been held that day

GOLF

They call it a game, so it ought to be fun
But I've seen fellows playing it terribly glum
And I've heard others swearing at what they have done
And I know golf is nothing but torture to some.

They call it a game, but it's filled with despair
Amid beautiful settings golf courses are laid,
But although it is played when the weather is fair
The signs of ill temper are often displayed.

They call it a game, but it's truth that I tell,
It ought to be pleasure but sometimes it's not.
Golf maddens the fellows who don't play it well
And they lose all the fun when they first miss a shot.

Weekend Adjournment In Congress Ruled Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — Any chance of Congress completing its work Saturday and adjourning for the year disappeared Friday night with an announcement by majority leader McCormack (D-Mass) that the House will meet Monday.

Legislation will be considered that day, McCormack told the House.

The drive for a weekend adjournment apparently was stalled by House passage Friday of a public housing bill which eliminates all the low rent home construction requested by the Eisenhower administration.

Since the Senate has voted for 135,000 new housing units annually for the next four years, a compromise now has to be worked out by the two chambers. There is general agreement that some sort of a housing bill must be passed before Congress quits.

The House will meet earlier than usual Saturday for a rare Saturday session in which it will dispose of odds and ends of legislation.

Brisk Work

Earlier in the day, scenting the possibility of adjournment by Saturday night, both branches of Congress dug briskly into unfinished business.

Senate-House conferees reached agreement on a catch-all money bill carrying about $1,600,000,000 for the operation of dozens of government agencies in the current fiscal year. It is one of the biggest bills which must be passed before Congress can leave town.

The Senate voted 54-34 in favor of a bill authorizing an expansion of the strategic minerals stockpiling program and sent it back to the House for consideration of two Senate amendments.

More Money

It also passed a bill to appropriate $93,026,227 to pay the cost of running Congress in the fiscal year which began July 1. A Senate-House conferees committee will have to work out its final form, as the Senate voted for more money than the House did.

A calendar of minor bills which the House had planned to consider Monday was called up Friday. In quick succession it passed such bills as one to waive customs duty on hand-woven fabrics imported by religious groups to make vestments for sale.

Beer Keg Blast Kills Iowa Man

FONDA, Ia. (P)—Roy J. Sanders, 71, a bartender at the Sunrise Tavern here was killed Friday when a keg of beer, being put under pressure for the tap, exploded.

Dr. J. B. Thielen, acting Pocahontas County coroner, said Sanders died of head injuries suffered when a piece of the exploding keg struck him.

The explosion tore out most of the tavern's bar but damage to the tavern itself was slight. Artie Murphy, tavern owner, and several customers escaped injury.

A Slap At Heat

ESTHERVILLE, Iowa. (P)—Trying to beat the heat is a favorite pastime in Iowa this week. And Jim Green, manager of the Grand Theater, decided to do something about it.

Greene planned to keep his air conditioned theater open after the last show Friday night. He invited residents to bring their families and blankets, if desired for a night of cool comfort.

Ready For Primitive Camping

The week end is a busy one for a group of Lincoln girls, all senior members of the Lincoln Girl Scouts, who will leave on Sunday for Michigan C r e e k, Colo., where they will participate in a regional round-up of Senior Girl Scouts.

What makes the girls so very busy is the fact that this is not just another outing at camp—this will be a "primitive" encampment where the only necessity provided the campers will be a supply of fresh water. Everything they need, their food and shelter, and all their equipment, the girls must take with them. And most important, they must be able to carry it. Woe to the Senior Scout who forgets something, for then she must use her imagination and ingenuity to "make-do" with what is at hand. We doubt that borrowers will be very popular.

ning and preparation, are Miss Mary Jo Wehr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Wehr; Miss Laurel Rager, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Rager; Miss Harriette Strickland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Strickland; and Miss Sara Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Jones.

Also attending the camp will be Miss Elizabeth Platt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Platt of Lincoln, and Miss Colleen McElwain of Fremont, a student at Nebraska Wesleyan University, who will serve as counselor for the Scouts.

THERE'S one bit of talk that's predominant around town at the moment — the weather — but since it was here before we were we've decided to skip it and discuss pleasanter things—Guests, for instance — Hear that Maj. and Mrs. Allen Gullion, their daughter, Curtice, and son Wyant, will be arriving in town some 10 days hence for a visit with Mr. Gullion's grandfather, Ross P. Curtice.

Maj. and Mrs. Gullion and their family have just landed in the States after a three year tour of duty in Pretoria, Africa which, in case you are interested, is not too far distant from Johannesburg. The potential visitors returned home several days ago, and at the moment are visiting Mrs. Gullion's mother, Mrs. Arthur Harris, and Gen. Harris, in Washington, D.C.

NEXT Thursday Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Magee will be boarding ship — The United States — for Europe where they will spend three months — The travelers go first to Paris to attend a Y meeting, and after that will devote their time to travel on the Continent, and doubtless in the British Isles.

MORE news of the Magee family involves Mr. and Mrs. Robert Magee, their children, and Mrs.

Magee's mother, Mrs. Andrew Jacoby, who leave this morning for Estes Park where they will holiday at the summer home of Mr. Magee's parents who, as we have just told you, will be abroad.

SPEAKING of summer holiday brings to mind Mr. and Mrs. W. Joyce Ayres and their children will be leaving about Aug. 9, to spend a week at Pelican Lake.

THERE'S news of a bride-elect this morning — Miss Winnie Owen, whose marriage to Marilyn Friede will be solemnized on Tuesday evening, Aug. 16, at the First Presbyterian Church.

On Thursday Miss Owen was an honoree when Mrs. Donald Leising entertained a small group of guests at luncheon and a one-gift shower at her home—and next Friday Mrs. Lester Creighton and Mrs. Vaughan Yantz will compliment the soon-to-be bride when they are hostesses at a 10 o'clock coffee at the home of Mrs. Creighton—and on Saturday morning coffee hostesses in pre-nuptial courtesy to Miss Owen will be Mrs. Lloyd Graham, her mother, and Mrs. Garwood Breazeale. The affair is to be a 10:30 o'clock mother-daughter party at the home of Mrs. Graham.

A Good Beginning

Pre-Nuptial Courtesies

Miss Helene Miriam Sherman and her fiancé, Norman Marvin Krivosha, whose marriage will be an event of Sunday evening, July 31, will be honored on Saturday evening when Miss Sherman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Sherman, will entertain at their home at an early evening hors d'oeuvres party. Thirty guests have been invited and will include only the members of the family and bridal party.

Following the wedding rehearsal at Tifereth Israel Synagogue, the members of the family and the wedding attendants will be entertained at late evening buffet supper for which Mr. and Mrs. David Krivosha will be host and hostess at their home in courtesy to their son and Miss Sherman.

Included among the out of town guests will be Mr. Krivosha's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Feldman and their daughter, Mindy, of Toronto, Canada; Miss Sherman's uncle, Izadore Diamond of Baltimore, Md., and the bride-elect's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Pro Sherman of Kansas City, Mo.

Any bride-elect will tell you that locating her new home, decorating it and making it livable is undoubtedly the most fun—and work—of all her preparations for that red-letter day, her wedding day.

In spite of the many bridal showers and other gay pre-nuptial courtesies which are filling her calendar these days, Miss Shannon Masters has found the time, and of course has enlisted the aid of her fiancé, Donald Meyer, to complete the furnishing of their future home at 2417 Ryons, which includes the necessary task of washing and arranging their new china and glassware.

A member of Delta Delta Delta at the University of Nebraska, Miss Masters will become the bride of Mr. Meyer on Saturday evening, Aug. 6.

Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Fred T. Clark of Gresham will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary on Sunday, Aug. 7. Former residents of Wymore, where Mr. Clark was engaged in business, the couple have made their home in Gresham since Mr. Clark's retirement three years ago.

Members of Mr. and Mrs. Clark's family will honor them on their anniversary at a reception to be held at their home. Friends of the couple are asked to call between the hours of 2 o'clock and 4 o'clock, Sunday afternoon, Aug. 7, without further invitation.

Serving Mr. Smith as best man will be Robert A. Munro of Kearney, brother of the bride-to-be, and the corps of ushers will include Allen D. Unvert of Omaha; Jim Schlichtmeyer of Scottsbluff; Cliff Kahl of Big Springs; Jim Applegate and Bill Ross of Gibbon; and Leonard DeBrie of Ft. Collins, Colo.

The bride-to-be is a former student at the University of Nebraska, and Mr. Smith, a graduate of Nebraska Wesleyan University, is attending the University of Nebraska College of Medicine in Omaha.

Luncheon

Announcing the members of Alpha Chi Omega sorority will meet for luncheon Saturday noon at the Hotel Cornhusker, where reports on the organization's recent biennial convention, held at the Greenbrier, White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., will be given.

The reports will be given by Miss Wilhelmina Desch of York, active chapter delegate; Miss Nancy Hegstrom, Waverly; Mrs. Paul Blumer, president of the Lincoln Alumnae Club; and Mrs. Elmer Schick, Lincoln, district alumnae chairman.

Presiding at the regular mid-summer meeting which will follow will be Miss Susie Enyeart of the active chapter and Mrs. Edward Schwartzkopf.

We Hear That

Mr. and Mrs. John Kerr, 1344 E. are the parents of a daughter who was born on Thursday, July 28 at Bryan Memorial Hospital. Young Miss Kerr has been named Lisa Ellen. Mrs. Kerr is the former Dixie Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Scott of Hickman. The baby's paternal grandmother is Mrs. Stella Kerr.

A Bride And A Bride-Elect

MRS. FREDERICK R. SCHENK

The marriage of Miss Betty Todd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Todd of Santa Anna, Tex., and Lt. Frederick R. Schenk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick R. Schenk of Wyomissing, Pa., was solemnized Friday afternoon, July 29, in the chapel of the Lincoln Air Force Base. In the presence of members of the family and a small group of friends, the 4:30 o'clock service was read by Lt. William E. Copeland, Protestant chaplain at the base.

The maid of honor and bride's only attendant was Miss Harriet Simmons, who wore a navy blue ensemble with matching accessories. Her corsage was fashioned of pink carnations.

Lt. Bruce Woodruff served Lt. Schenk as best man.

For her wedding, the bride wore a gown of petal pink crystal-lette designed in the daytime mode. The after-five decolletage was accented by a circular yoke, and the snug bodice was completed by shirred, elbow-length sleeves. The gored skirt flared into modified fullness, and she wore a tiny cap of the crystallette, embroidered with iridescent sequins and briefly veiled in white. Her accessories were white and pinned to her shoulder was a corsage of white orchids.

Following the ceremony, a wedding dinner was held at the Compass Room. Included among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frederick R. Schenk of Wyomissing, Pa., parents of the bridegroom.

The couple will reside in Lincoln where Lt. Schenk is stationed at the Lincoln Air Force Base and his bride is employed as base librarian.

MISS PATRICIA ANN HILLHOUSE

Mr. and Mrs. William Hillhouse of Lincoln, formerly of Omaha, this morning are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Patricia Ann, to Edwin J. Miller Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Miller of Tecumseh.

The wedding will be an event of Saturday, Aug. 27, at 9 o'clock in the morning at St. Mary's Cathedral.

The bride-to-be is a former student at Notre Dame Academy in Omaha. Her fiancé recently received his discharge after more than two years service with the Army.

To Have Saturday Ceremony

Pedestal urns filled with white gladioli and majestic daisies will appoint the chancel of St. Teresa's Church, and sprays of the gladioli caught with white satin will mark the pews of the processional aisle, for the marriage of Miss Donna Marie Medved, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Medved, to Robert Francis Kidder, son of Mrs. Helen Kidder, which will take place Saturday morning, July 30. The 11 o'clock ceremony will be solemnized by Msgr. C. J. Kaczmarek, and Mrs. Mildred Gergen will play the wedding music. Mrs. Gergen also will present a prelude of organ music as the 200 guests assemble.

Frocked alike in imported white organdy over French blue taffeta will be Mrs. Robert Admire, the matron of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Kay Krueger and Miss Janet Cordes of St. Paul, Minn., niece of the bride. Patterned in an embroidered floral motif, the attendants' ensembles are fashioned with snug basques and crisply-flaring skirts. They will carry colonial bouquets of white feathered carnations interspersed with pale blue-tinted blossoms. Miss Joyce Berken of Phoenix, Ariz., also a niece of the bride, will be the flower girl.

Fred Kidder will serve his brother as best man, and seating the guests will be Jack Kidder, also a brother of the bride, and Russ Neilson. Robert Cordes of St. Paul, Minn., nephew of the bride, will be ringbearer.

Miss Medved has chosen for her wedding a gown of white dotted organdy over silk taffeta. The sculptured bodice is designed with a portrait decolletage edged with floral-embroidered scallops, and the scallop motif is repeated on the brief sleeves and the cuffs of the long organdy mitts. Four deep tiers of the organdy form the extremely full skirt, and a petal cap of tulle patterned with pearls will hold her veil of illusion. She will carry a cascade of white orchids and stephanotis.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception will be held in the church parlors after which

MRS. ROBERT F. RANCIS KIDDER

Mr. and Mrs. Medved will entertain the members of the family and bridal party at a buffet luncheon to be held at their home.

Upon their return from a trip to northern Minnesota, Mr. Kidder and his bride will live in Lincoln. For traveling, Miss Med-ved has selected a gray and white polka-dot ensemble with white accessories. Both have attended the University of Nebraska where Miss Medved is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority, and Mr. Kidder is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Gavins Point Dam Closure Work Ahead Of Schedule

River Level Downstream Steadily Drops

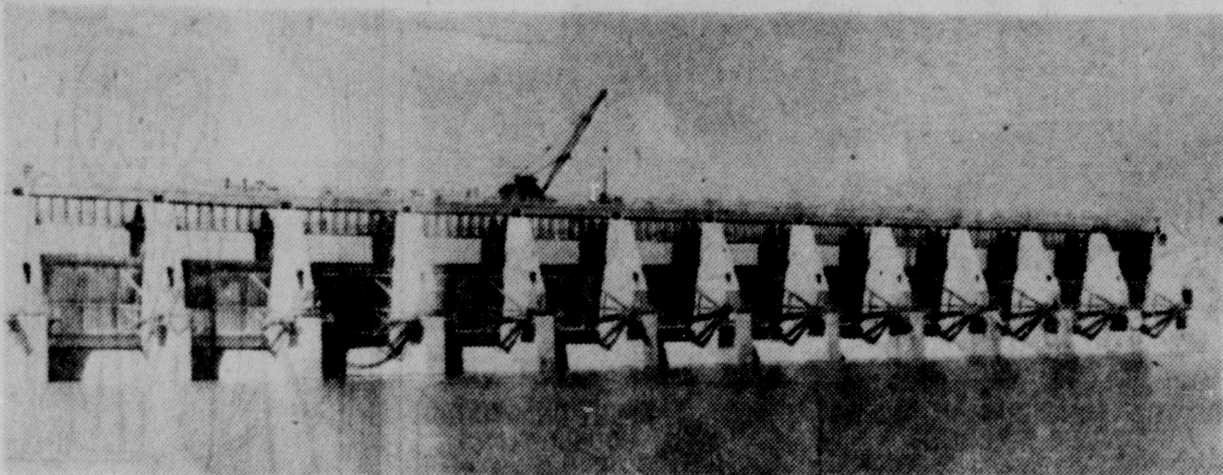

OMAHA (AP)—Work at the Gavins Point Dam four miles west of Yankton, S. D., where closure is in progress, was ahead of schedule Friday, the Omaha District Engineers office reported.

Dump trucks completed their assignment of pushing a 450-foot section of the closure dike into the Missouri and draglines took over.

The drag lines, working from stockpiles on either side of the river, were to fill in the final 150-foot section.

The possibility existed that the closure might be made even before the ceremonies Sunday formalizing this newest phase of the Missouri Basin development plan.

With the flow of the river choked off at Fort Randall dam upstream, the river level was dropping steadily downstream. The Weather Bureau said Omaha's river level will hold to 5.6 feet through Sunday and then will dip to four feet on Sunday and to 2.5 feet on Monday. Next Thursday ebb will be reached at a stage of about minus .4 of a foot.

Spillway Gates Await Missouri River Waters

About five days after Gavins Point Dam at Yankton, S. D., is closed with appropriate ceremonies Sunday, the Missouri River will start flowing through these spillway gates, seen from the downstream side of the river. Immediately after closure the river will flow through the powerhouse substructure, but during the next five days the closure dike will be raised another 18 feet to shunt the water through the spillways so the powerhouse section can be closed off for further construction. (AP Wirephoto.)

Tots Bleeding Excessively Are Back In Hospital

OSHKOSH, Neb. (AP)—Peggy and Joe Davis of Lisco, who are afflicted with a rare ailment which causes excessive bleeding, have been returned to a Chicago hospital where they received treatment earlier.

Joe already was in the Lewellen Hospital and was taken home when his sister was ready for the flight to Chicago.

While riding in the car before departure, Joe hurt his finger in the car door and it started to bleed again so both children were flown to Chicago by Marvin Stevenson.

Specialists at the Chicago hospital had asked that the children be returned there when the bleeding occurred again so they could be observed as the trouble progressed.

Land In Garden County Leased By Oil Companies

OSHKOSH, Neb. (AP) — More than 50,000 acres of Garden County land have been leased by oil companies during the last two months since the Kaschke No. 1 well northeast of the city gave up a showing of oil.

There have been no further announcements of oil tests, however. More than 37,250 acres of land was leased by the Ohio Oil Co., which already had large tracts under lease.

Most of the land was leased at $1 per acre, but some was contracted at 50 cents.

Custer County Wheat Crop Is Over Average

BROKEN BOW, Neb. (AP)—The 1955 wheat harvest in Custer County was about complete Friday and estimates from farmers and grain dealers are that it will go on the books as an above average crop.

A lot of dryland wheat has yielded 30 to 35 bushels per acre and some where conditions were just right yielded 40 bushels per acre.

Top yield was a 57-bushel per acre yield from the Bernard Petrick farm near Ansley.

Broken Bow also managed to get through the harvest without a box-car shortage.

Bid Opening Is Set

Commissioner Blasts 'Disabled List' Misuse

NEW YORK (AP)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick said Friday some major league clubs were misusing the disabled list to "juggle player limits" and he issued a stern directive tightening restrictions in the rule.

In a 250-word communication to all major league clubs, the commissioner said, effective immediately, the following rules would be in effect:

1. No player will be placed on the disabled list unless application for such placement is accompanied by a certificate from a reputable physician outlining fully the player's disability.
2. The physician's certificate must state that in the physician's opinion the player is unable to perform services and that such disability is directly traceable to injury incurred in line of duty during his term and employment with the club.
3. Players able to pitch batting practice and participate in pregame practice or take part in other normal activities will not be considered eligible for placement on the disabled list.
4. In the case of bonus players, the time spent on the disabled list will not count against the two years required before the player can be sent out.

No Clubs Named

The commissioner did not specify clubs at which his directive was aimed. However, he hinted that several had come under his eye as violators of the code.

Frick held a conference yesterday with three representatives of the Baltimore Orioles — General Manager Paul Richards, Asst. General Manager Art Ehlers and scout Jim Weaver.

Afterwards he declined to discuss the topic of the meeting, but Richards said the chat dealt with "bonus players and the disabled list."

Cleveland recently placed its first bonus player, infielder Kenny Kuhn, on the disabled list. Brooklyn earlier did the same with Sandy Koufax, a bonus pitcher. Kuhn has a sore arm. Koufax had a bad ankle when he was put on the list.

Maximum of Two

Under the present rule a club is allowed a maximum of two players on the disabled list for a 30-day period. These players may be carried without infringing on the 25-player limit. Also bonus players must be kept on the roster for two years before they can be shipped to a lower classification.

In his directive, Frick said the disabled list rule was designed to care for players "disabled or injured in regular play and whose services would be denied the club for 30 days or longer."

"The list was not then and never intended to be used as a method of juggling the player limit nor was it ever intended that the player list shall be utilized in the case of players whose performance was substandard."

Frick said in the past few months "there had developed a tendency on the part of some of our clubs to misuse the disabled list in an obvious effort to control and juggle player limits."

Top-Seeded Juniors Lose

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP)—The four top seeded juniors were knocked out of the National Junior and Boys Tennis Tournament in the quarter-final round Friday. Highest seeded among the boys, however, came through.

Mike Green of Miami, Fla., top seeded among the juniors, was upset 6-3, 4-6, 6-4 by fifth seeded Art Andrews of Iowa City; Maxwell Brown Jr., of Louisville, Ky., eliminated second seeded Gregory Grant, San Marino, Calif., 7-5, 6-4; Esteban Reyes, of Mexico City, knocked third seeded Crawford Henry, of Atlanta, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3, and Ron Holmberg, Brooklyn, upset fourth seeded Norman Perry, of Los Angeles, 6-0, 6-2.

Elimination of Grant and Perry left California without a semi-final or final contestant. It has been represented in these rounds in most, if not all the 13 consecutive national tournaments held in Kalamazoo.

Andrews meets Holmberg and Brown plays Reyes in today's semifinals.

Dr. Rogers Backs 'Shots Now' Plan

The state health director, Dr. E. A. Rogers, said Friday he sees "no reason" for not giving Salk polio vaccine booster shots now rather than waiting until fall.

Recognizing the difference of opinion that exists, he said his department will leave the decision up to parents and individual doctors.

Nebraska's share of vaccine for the second, booster shot arrived recently.

'Safe Now'

"If the vaccine itself is safe in October, it's safe right now," he asserted.

The only question then is the possibility of provoking a case of polio in a child carrying the live virus.

"It has been known for years that any kind of an injection in a person who is carrying the live polio virus but who has not come down with paralytic polio may provoke, in a very few cases, an onset of paralysis.

"But the provoking effect happens in such a small number of cases that it's not sufficient justification to deny the protection that the vaccine will give. Furthermore, the injection itself, in this case, is designed to protect against polio."

More Polio, More Reason

"The more polio there is, the more reason there is to go ahead," he said he wouldn't criticize any doctors who believe in deferring the shots, saying "they've had access to the same information that we have."

But he pointed out that representatives of medical groups and interested agencies, after a New York conference called by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis earlier this year, concluded that the benefits of the protection would be much greater than any hazard involved.

The safety of the vaccine itself is not involved in the question, Dr. Rogers said.

All but seven Nebraska counties have responded to a Health Department survey to determine which want Salk vaccine to continue the inoculation series. First and second graders who received the first free shots are eligible for booster shots, and eligible children who missed the first inoculations can make up the shot now.

Most counties have indicated they are going ahead with the program at this time.

Ike Predicts: GOP At Helm 'Forever'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said Friday the Republicans would retain control of the national administration forever if they would unite behind the principles he advocates.

The President, addressing a pre-adjournment breakfast rally of Republican senators and representatives, gave no hint of whether he plans to run for re-election next year but some of his backers appeared encouraged by his remarks.

Reporters were not admitted to the Statler Hotel room where the breakfast was served, but Eisenhower's press secretary, James C. Hagerty, gave them a summary of his talk afterward.

Hagerty said the President made no direct reference to next year's presidential campaign "even in passing." There was a chorus of "We Want Ike" when the President entered the room, and many of the GOP lawmakers wore big red, white and blue "Ike in 1956" buttons.

Stoll Installed As Utica IOOF Head

Lincoln Star Special

UTICA, Neb. — Ralph Stoll has been installed as noble grand of the Utica IOOF Lodge. The Utica lodge was host to lodges from Seward, Beaver Crossing and Milford for the installation ceremonies.

Other officers are A. J. Peterson, vice grand; Klee Nelson, secretary, and Elmer Ludwig, treasurer.

Installing officer was District Deputy Grand Master Hans Clausen.

The State Aeronautics Commission Friday allocated $3,000 of state funds toward an $18,000 runway lighting project at the Beatrice airport.

A federal allocation of $9,000 is sought and the city is expected to put up the remaining $6,000, State Aeronautics Director James Ramsey said.

A delegation of Beatrice residents attended the commission's meeting to back the request.

Ramp For Holdrege

The commission also allocated

State Funds For Beatrice Airport Given

up to $2,500 for a ramp and taxiway at the Holdrege airport. Plans are based on the prospect of $5,000 in federal funds. The city also would contribute to the cost.

A $2,000 allocation to permit seal coating of two runways and a taxiway at the Valentine airport also was made. The city will match this amount.

The commission approved a hangar for the Sargent airport and allowed up to $1,500 for it. The hangar will be built under the Nebraska program which calls for the state to build the hangars, but turn them over to local communities when the communities have finished paying the state for them.

Aids Just One

The Beatrice project involves lighting two runways, but the state's $3,000 allocation is based on assisting with only one of them. The Beatrice airport now has perimeter lighting.

Telling why the airport needs lights, Dr. Harry M. Hepperlen, spokesman for the Beatrice delegation, said:

The present system is expensive and obsolete.

Safer

Runway lighting will be safer, and will permit use of airport land for crops. (With perimeter lighting, the entire field must be in shape to receive aircraft, and thus crops cannot be planted).

The new lighting would be expected to attract more transient fliers at night.

The new lights would boost chances for scheduled air service to the city.

Other members of the delegation included Mayor Allen Davison, Charles H. Harman, Robert S. Marvin, J. M. Quackenbush, Donald Fitzwater and John R. Zahm.
